CHEF BOB SERVES UP SPECIAL CREATIONS AT SENTOSA'S GOOD OLD DAYS

First-ever chef collaboration brings Singapore cuisine with a unique twist to Siloso Beach

Singapore, 29 May 2025 – Good Old Days, a family-friendly halal food court next to Sentosa's Beach Station and known for serving up tantalising Singaporean favourites at affordable prices, is teaming up with local chef and culinary host Chef Bob to present a seven-month-long showcase of his newest creations starting 28 May 2025 at Level 2 of Good Old Days. This partnership brings together Chef Bob's passion for traditional flavours and Good Old Days' take on everyday local cuisine, offering guests a taste of comfort and nostalgia with a bold, modern twist. The collaboration reflects a shared commitment to preserving and refreshing Singapore's multicultural culinary identity.

"As part of our SG60 celebrations, we are excited to team up with a well-loved local personality like Chef Bob," says Buhdy Bok, Managing Director of Mount Faber Leisure Group. "This partnership lets us reintroduce the flavours Singaporeans grew up with—revitalised in new, exciting ways that resonate across ages and cultures. It's a perfect fit for Good Old Days, where we make local food meaningful and accessible for everyone."

Known for his straightforward charm and viral wok hei cooking videos, Chef Bob sees food as both a cultural archive and a family legacy. "Without tradition, we lose our identity," he shares. "Through this collaboration, I want to remind people, especially the younger generation, that these flavours are worth holding on to."

Wok Hei Meets Nostalgia: Three Dishes That Hit Home

At the heart of this collaboration are three limited-time dishes, each telling a story of family, identity, and reinvention. Inspired by pivotal moments in Chef Bob's culinary journey, the dishes trace his evolution—from his early days running a restaurant to life today as a father to a son who loves Western flavours. Each plate reflects his deep respect for tradition, but with thoughtful tweaks to welcome a wider audience. Whether it is the technique-driven transformation of nasi lemak, a comforting revival of an old classic, or a bold fusion of Malay spice and Italian form, these creations invite diners to connect with heritage in a way that feels fresh, relevant and satisfying.

Chef Bob's Nasi Lemak Goreng ($12.80) is a feat of technique and flavour. Unlike regular fried rice, nasi lemak rice's higher fat content makes it challenging to fry without losing texture—highlighting the skill it takes to “goreng” it right. The dish, also featuring Chef Bob's signature crispy turmeric chicken and finished with a perfectly fried sunny-side-up egg, is an aromatic wok-fired twist on a local classic.

The Ginger Fish Horfun ($10.80) makes a special return by popular demand, after winning over fans during Chef Bob's early culinary days. This limited-time dish features velvety rice noodles wok-charred in dark soy sauce, topped with a rich egg gravy infused with ginger and garlic. A dash of Worcestershire sauce adds depth, while tender fish slices lend texture and balance. Comforting yet elevated, this nostalgic favourite is crafted to delight both loyal fans and first-time diners.

Finally, the Assam Pedas Pasta ($12.80) delivers a creative East-meets-West flavour experience. Chef Bob swaps rice for pappardelle pasta, allowing the assam pedas sauce to cling to every ribbon. The dish is tossed with fresh prawns, garlic and Thai asparagus, and finished with laksa leaf and a splash of evaporated milk to round out the spice with a subtle lemak richness. It is a creative take on a traditional Malay staple, thoughtfully adapted for international palates.

A Fresh Chapter for a Familiar Favourite

This collaboration enhances Good Old Days' appeal as a family destination for halal local food on Sentosa. Over the next seven months, diners have a chance to reconnect with their roots or discover them for the first time through bold new flavours created in collaboration with Chef Bob. Alongside these limited-time dishes, guests can continue to enjoy Good Old Days' everyday menu of familiar local favourites starting from S$9.80, from hearty mains like Chicken Biryani and Good Old Days Noodles to child-approved options such as Mac & Cheese and Chicken Meatballs Spaghetti.
